

NordForsk-funded research course: Register-based epidemiology

Part 1: September 10-14, 2018 in Oslo, Norway

Part 2: January 28 - February 1, 2019 in Copenhagen, Denmark

Scientific content

- Overview of Nordic registries (variables, laws, regulations, and more)
- Methodology for registry research (designs, minimizing bias, and more)
- Management of registry data (sources of errors, merging data, and more)
- Practical examples and exercises (conducting analyses, access to data, writing protocols, and more)

About the course

- Open for a total of 20 Nordic PhD students
- No registration fee
- Accommodation and travel expenses included

Open registration: May 15 to June 15, 2018

More details about the course

Course leaders

Tone K. Omsland

Epidemiologist
Department of Community Medicine and Global Health,
Institute of Health and Society, University of Oslo

Øystein Haaland

Statistician
Department of Global Public Health and Primary Care,
University of Bergen

Lau Caspar Thygesen

Epidemiologist
National Institute of Public Health,
University of Southern Denmark